YESTERDAY MORNING.

WHICH HAD BEEN PLANNED AS A SUR-

PRISE FOR HIM WAS NOT HELD. Cleveland, Aug. 27 .- President McKinley surprised the people of Cleveland by his early arrival from Buffalo this morning. The reception of the President was not as elaborate as was planned, because the party arrived several hours shead of the time anticipated. The Comanche which brought the party from Buffalo, arrived inside of the harbor at 2:30 o'clock. She lay at anchor until 7 o'clock, when she steamed into the inner harbor and made fast at the dock of the Pennsylvania Company. Senator Hanna was surprised to know that elaborate preparations had been made for the reception of the President, and said he had adised against it yesterday by telegraph, stating that there was no certainty of the hour of the President's arrival. He asked that the Naval Reserves and the Tippecanoe Club be informed of the coming of the Comanche and invited the newspaper men aboard the yacht.

The Tippecanoe Club and the Naval Reserves had planned an elaborate reception, which included a parade about the downtown streets nd a speech in the public square. The Conanche was expected to arrive at 9 a. m., and the programme had been prepared accordingly. At So'clock Mayor McKisson sauntered to the boat landing. Meanwhile the Tippecanoe Club and the Great Western Band were marching and counter-marching about their headquarters to get into place. The people were gathering to go to the boat landing. It was a disappointment to all of them to learn that the President had arrived two hours earlier and was already

Mr. McKinleytalked of his trip from Buffalo and of the G. A. R. Encampment, which he declared to be the greatest in its history, and spoke in the highest terms of the manner in which the people of Buffalo had handled the encampment. His stay in Cleveland, he said, would be a quiet one, with rest as the principal thing to be sought.

At 7:30 o'clock carriages arrived at the dock and the party left the Comanche. The crowd had increased little in size since the yacht first tiel up at the dock. There were not more than one hundred and fifty people in sight.

Those who came from Buffalo on the Comanche were President and Mrs. McKinley, Secretary and Mrs. Alger, Miss Alger, Frederick Alger, Senator Hanna, Colonel M. T. Herrick, H. M. Hanna and William Chisholm. The President decided to spend the afternoon at Mr. Hanna's house. The Naval Reserves ere determined not to be deprived of the Presidential salute, so the Andrew Johnson steamed into the lake, off Mr. Hanna's house, and fired twenty-one guns.

As a sort of compensation for the disappointof the people who expected to greet the dent on his arrival here this morning it has been arranged to hold a public reception to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Hollen-don Hotel. The President and Senator Hanna don Hotel. The Fresident and Senator Hanna regret that there should have been any disappointment. The latter said this evening: "I did not know that a single arrangement had been made for a reception or anything of the kind until our party had reached the house this

Senator Hanna said he received several tele-Senator Hanna said he received several telegrams in Buffalo yesterday asking him at what time the President would arrive in Cleveland, and to all of them he replied that he did not know, for everything depended on the weather. It was not certain the President would come by boat until he went aboard the yacht. Mr. Hanna said he discouraged a public demonstration, for the very reason that it could not be stated at what time the President would reach Cleveland.

spend Saturday and Sunday with his mother before returning to Washington.

President McKinley was the guest of the American Bar Association at its banquet this evening, though the fact that he was to be there was kept quiet. The President entered the banquet hall after the speaking began. He was accompanied by Secretary Alger and Senator Hanna. A seat had been reserved for him between the new and retiring presidents of the association. After the applause which greeted the President had subsided the toastmaster announced that the Executive Committee had reported the election to honorary membership in the association of William McKinley, of Ohio. The announcement was greeted by cheers. In response the President said:

President said:

I count it a great distinction to be chosen to be a member of the National Bar. I did not suspect that such honar awaited me. I could not deny myself the opportunity which the courtesy of your examinites afforded me to pay my respects to this honorable body of gentlemen. I come to linger with you in fraternal relation and to exalt the profession to which we belong for I believe that is a part of the privilege of the association. I thank you for the distinction you have given meand, not wishing to interrupt the programme, I bid you all good-night. President said:

A DANVILLE PHYSICIAN KILLED.

Danville, Va., Aug. 27.-Dr. John R. Cabell, a prominent citizen of this place, was murdered last night at his country home, near Callands, twenty-five miles from here, by Edward Hankins, his tenant. Dr. Cabell had refused to rent Hankins, his tenant. Dr. Cabell had refused to rent Hankins the farm for another year, and Hankins refused to move away. Dr. Cabell, who was seventy-four years of age, was a brother of ex-Congressman George C. Cabell.

Mr. Rockefeller personally superintended the inspection of the baggage of his family, and there was a large amount of it, including twenty trunks to fourteen hand satchels. He declared $365 worth of dutiable goods, and paid Uncle Sam the sum of Mr. Rockefeller declined to give his opinion of the new tariff. He said that, although the voyage had been an exceedingly pleasant one, he felt tired and needed rest.

Mr. Frick paid between $300 and $400 in duties on his baggage, and said that he was glad of it. "I am a believer in this tariff," he added, "and I never paid money more cheerfully in my life." Asked what he thought of the condition of business and of the coal strike, Mr. Frick said: perity is assured and close at hand. There is ody in Europe who is scared over this tariff. and it is going to help our business interests immensely. As to the strike, I do not know enough about it now to talk on the subject. I only know what I read in the English papers. As for our mer going on strike, there is not the slightest danger We are paying them as good, if not better, wages than ever before, and they will not strike. Mr. Huntington was one of the first to come down the gangplank of the St. Louis after she had tied up. He said that he had been abroad on a two months' pleasure trip and felt far from eing well versed on subjects of public interest on this side of the water.

Captain Kay of the Lucania, in speaking of the voyage, said that the American Liner St. Louis was sighted at daylight on Wednesday morning, and at 6 o'clock the Lucania was abreast of her. At nightfall the Lucania had passed her.

MOUNT PLEASANT ASSESSMENTS

The Mount Pleasant town assessors held a sea sion in North Tarrytown yesterday afternoon, in Judge Daniel Armstrong's office, for the purpose of hearing persons whom they had ordered to ap-

The arrangements here were made quietly, the intention being to surprise the President, and for that reason the persons on the yacht knew nothing about the proposed reception.

On Wednesday of next week, probably in the morning, the Presidential party will start for Fremont, Ohio, where they will attend the Hayes-Smith wedding in the evening. The following day Mr. McKinley will attend the runion of his old regiment. On Friday he will visit the State Fair at Columbus.

The President's mother will not visit Clevelland during the stay of her son, but the latter will make a short visit at Canton after his trip to Columbus. The President will probably spend Saturday and Sunday with his mother before them to explain some things in their applications for reductions of assessments. The first witness examined was Mrs. Catharine Stevens, who swore off an assessment of $11,500 on personal property.

C. and A. E. Stevenz, of Bedford Road, asked for a reduction on their real estate, assessed for $25,000, to $10,500 an acre to John D. Rockefeller. They think the fact that the home of the Sisters of Mercy for Little Children is near this property has a tendency to depreciate its value. At another argument they said Mr. Rockefeller is assessed at only $1,500 an acre.

sessed at only $1,500 an acre.

Lewis Roberts asked to have an as $7,200, placed against E. P. Allinson, his son-in-law, charged to S. Davis Page, who is the real owner, charged to S. Davis Page, who is the real owner. On his own property he is assessed on thirty-four acres, for $150 an acre. He was assessed for a house and eight lots in the Bedford Road, which, he said, he did not own and did not know anything about. He admitted his house was worth $12,09, at which price it was assessed. A little house belonging to his daughter, in the Bedford Road, on a lot 20 by 129, which was last year assessed at $500, is this year assessed at $1,090.

The assessors and Mr. Roberts got into so much confusion as to what he owned and what he did not that they adjourned his hearing until a future day. Mr. Fisher, an engineer, who has made survey; of the praperty, will be present and try to straighten the tangle out. A formal objection was made to the assessment of $550 an acre, because he was willing to sell the property for less, and, in fact, had sold to John D. Rockefeller some acres at $130 an acre.

was willing to sell the property for less, and, fit fact, had sold to John D. Rockefeller some acres at $129 an acre.

It was stated by Mr. Martin, an assessor, that the adjoining property was assessed at $590 an acre. Mr. Roberts admitted that the six acres mear his house were worth $1,000 an acre, but he could not get a purchaser for it.

The examination as to the William and John D. Rockefeller properties will be continued some day next week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday. J. F. Quinn, the stenographer, has already taken 2.45 pages of testimeny in the Rockefellers fight against their assessment in this town. A number of other minor complaints were received yesterday.

OBITUARY.

JUSTICE WILLIAM J. OSBORNE.

Justice William J. Osborne, of the Supreme Court, for many years a familiar figure in the social and political life of Brooklyn, died at his home, No. 130 Amity-st., Brooklyn, yesterday forenoon, about 10 o'clock, after an illness of about five months. During the last three weeks his condition was such as to cause the fear that he would die at any time. His disease, an affection of the liver and atomach, was declared to be a fatal one several weeks ago, and although there would be days together when he was in good spirits, there was no chance of his recovery. For twenty-four hours prior to his death he was unconscious, and he passed away yesterday morning with no sign of pain. At his bedside were his wife and his daughter, Mrs. Joseph P. Topping, his stepson, Louis, and a nephew named Samuel Duffield Osborne. He was attended during his lilness by Dr. F. H. Colton. The burial will be in the family plot in Greenwood.

William James Osborne was born in New-York City on June 9, 1836. After going through the dition was such as to cause the fear that he would

The young man was only twenty-one years old when he was admitted to practice at the bar. A year later, in 1878, Mr. Osborne removed to Brooklyn, where he had since been prominent in political and legal circles. Beginning in 1851 he served six consecutive terms as Supervisor from the Sixth Ward. In a large part of that time he was chairman of the Board of Supervisors. After the creation of the office of Supervisor-at-Large Mr. Osborne was the first one elected to fill the place. The following year he was elected Judge in the City Court.

He held this office until 1894, when by the new city He held this office until 1894, when by the new city charter the court was abolished. Justice Osborne, then, by virtue of the terms of the charter, became a Judge on the bench of the Supreme Court, with other ex-Judges of the City Court. The Justice had always been an active Democrat, and had held several places of trust in the party. Some years ago he was a member of the Democratic State Committee, and for a number of years was chairman of the Sixth Ward Democratic Association. Since 1872 he had been secretary of the Board of Regents of the Long Island Hespital. He was well known in social life, and was a member of the Brooklyn and Hamilton clubs.
